These units require no messy or costly building work. Instead they simply bolt to the wall and connect to a gas supply, providing an easy and time saving installation.

Our wall-mounted units are designed to be installed on a wall, out of reach of small children, making them an ideal choice for families with young kids.

The Infiniti Concept Gas Fire is designed to be hung on a wall or, with the addition of top and bottom sections, installed as a modernistic mantle unit, making it ideal for enhancing modern architectural styles.

The top and bottom sections of the mantle are available in a choice of three colours, as detailed. If you prefer your own colour scheme, these sections can be painted by your installer to your individual preference.
